ABSTRACT

This publication presents data from the seventh and eighth Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS) showing typical or modal charges to students in institutions of higher education for the academic years 1972-73 and 1973-74. Analytic tables provide detail for public and private institutions, with comparison to typical charges to in-state and out-of-state students for tuition and required fees. These tables permit comparisons of undergraduate and graduate tuition and fees by level, control, and enrollment size of institution. Charges for room and charges for board, in public and in private institutions, are shown in separate tables with no differentiation as to students' level of study or residence status. Tables presenting data for individual institutional reporting units and tables and charts on the distribution of basic student charges show the actual charges as they were reported to the National Center for Educational Statistics. All other Tables, presenting summaries by type of institution or by state, utilize weighted averages which were computed on the basis of full-time-equivalent enrollment. The tables are grouped by year and the charges reported are those that were required of the largest proportion of full-time students at the undergraduate and graduate levels for the academic year reported. Not included are costs for books and supplies, athletic and social activities, and off-campus living costs. (JMF)

FOREWORD

This publication presents, for the first time in the history of the Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS), institutional arrays of the complete basic student charges data set, together with graphic analyses of these data. The previous lack of publications of this type in the field of the charges made to students for the provision of instruction and the various related services in institutions of higher education is no indication of our evaluation of the importance of these data. For a variety of reasons, unrelated to the significance of the data, the information on basic student charges is the last part of HEGIS for which the acquisition, maintenance, retrieval, and dissemination problems have been fully solved.

In the first three HEGIS surveys (fall 1966, 1967, and 1968) the data on basic student charges were obtained from a survey form which also sought projections of various data into the future. Difficulties with these surveys prevented the publication of data on basic student charges except for the small amount of summary data published for the 1966-67 and 1968-69 academic years. The reduced HEGIS survey for 1969 did not contain a request for data on student charges. The survey of basic student charges was reinstituted in the fifth HEGIS survey (fall 1970) as part of the survey of financial statistics and continued in this manner in the sixth survey (fall 1971). However, the resulting data were unsatisfactory since finance data are for the previous year and basic student charges data are for the current year. In the seventh HEGIS survey (fall 1972) the survey form on basic student charges was attached, appropriately, to the survey form on institutional characteristics from which the Education Directory--Higher Education is generated. The Directory editions for 1972-73, 1973-74, and 1974-75 contain, for each institution, the rate of tuition charged at the undergraduate level.

This publication, drawn from the seventh and eighth HEGIS surveys, presents national mean and aggregate data. It is hoped that these data will be of assistance to policymakers and administrators as they cope with the perennial problem of student charges.

The work of Carolyn R. Smith and Hazel C. Poole in reviewing survey responses for accuracy and completeness, as well as Eugene E. Hixson's consultation on the analysis plan, contributed significantly to the value of this report. Also recognized with deep appreciation is the cooperation of the college and university officials who continue to supply the essential data.

INTRODUCTION

This publication presents data from the seventh and eighth Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS VII AND HEGIS VIII) showing typical or modal charges to students in institutions of higher education for the academic years 1972-73 and 1973-74. Analytic tables provide detail for public and private institutions, with comparison of typical charges to in-State and out-of-State students for tuition and required fees. These tables permit comparisons of undergraduate and graduate tuition and fees by level, control, and enrollment size of institution. Charges for room and charges for board, in public and in private institutions, are shown in separate tables with no differentiation as to students' level of study or residence status.

Tables presenting data for individual institutional reporting units and tables and charts on the distribution of basic student charges show the actual charges as they were reported to the National Center for Education Statistics. All other tables, presenting summaries by type of institution or by State, utilize "weighted averages" which were computed on the basis of full-time-equivalent enrollment. The computation of the weighted averages is described in the section on methodology.

The tables in this publication are grouped by year. Those prefixed by an "A" (i. e., A1 through A6, A101 and A103) are for 1972-73, whereas those prefixed by a "B" (i. e., B1 through B6, B101 and B103) are for 1973-74. Tables with the same number show comparable data for the two academic years. For example, table A1 shows weighted average undergraduate charges by type of charge, control, level, and enrollment size of institution for 1972-73 while table B1 shows the corresponding data for 1973-74.

The charges reported are those that were required of the largest proportion of full-time students at the undergraduate and graduate levels for the academic year reported. (Charges for students enrolled in first-professional degree programs, such as medicine and law, are not included.) These data provide an indication of what the fixed institutional charges were for tuition and required fees, room, and board during each of the two academic years. Institutions were provided with factors with which to convert charges for semesters, trimesters, and quarters to annual rates; i. e., 2, 2.4, and 3 respectively.

It is important to note that the cost of tuition and required fees, room, and board do not represent total college costs. Not included are costs for books and supplies, athletic and social activities, and off-campus room and board.

Two categories, in-State and out-of-State, are used in the tables to classify student residence in public institutions. If an institution indicated two rates of charges for in-State students (in-district and out-of-district), the in-district rate was used to represent the in-State data as that was the rate of charge paid by most students and, thus, the rate that would be comparable with that for other institutions.

Institutions may show no charges for items when local practice does not fit the survey definitions. For example, institutions requesting "charitable donations," even if a minimum is stipulated, are not considered as charging tuition; and institutions that have no set charge for board, but instead provide a pay-as-you-go cafeteria, are not considered as charging board.

COMPARISONS, 1972-73 AND 1973-74

Table 1 shows the various charges paid by the average student in 1972-73 and 1973-74. Analysis of these data reveals that:

1. All average student charges increased from 1972-73 to 1973-74.
2. The average student attending a private institution paid a relatively greater increase in basic student charges than did one attending a public institution.
3. All increases in the weighted average of basic student charges (see the column labeled "percent change" in table A) were less than the increase in the Consumer Price Index (7.4 percent from September 1972 to September 1973*).
4. In 1973-74, the average undergraduate student attending a public institution in his home State paid 63.4 percent less in tuition and fees than did the average undergraduate student attending a public institution outside his home State. This latter amount was, however, 32.8 percent less than the amount paid by the average undergraduate student attending a private institution.

The frequency distribution charts illustrate the institutional distributions of the variables as indicated in tables A6 and B6. The averages stated in these pictograms are unweighted and differ significantly from the weighted averages.

SURVEY COVERAGE AND METHODOLOGY

Data on student charges were obtained from respondents to the "Institutional Characteristics of Colleges and Universities" survey, part of the annual Higher Education General Information Survey. The survey instrument and instructions for the 1972-73 survey are shown in appendix A.

For 1973-74, data for institutions included in the universe the previous year were obtained by updating the computer printout (see appendix B). New institutions reported on a form similar to that shown for the 1972-73 survey.

All 2,680 institutions in the 1972-73 universe and all 2,735 in the 1973-74 universe responded to all items in this survey. Table 2 shows the number of respondents by reporting category.

Basic tables 1-4, and the new method tables 101 and 103 for each year show weighted average charges for tuition, room, and board. These weighted average charges (WACs) were computed by use of the following formula:

$$WAC_{i,j} = \frac{\sum_{k \in j} c_{i,k} e_k}{\sum_{k \in j} e_k}$$

Where:

$WAC_{i,j}$	=	Weighted average charges of type i (e. g., in-State tuition for public institutions) for institutions of type j .
$c_{i,k}$	=	Reported charges of type i for institution k .
e_k	=	Fall full-time equivalent enrollment for institution k for the proper year.
$\sum_{k \in j}$	=	The sum over the k institutions of type j .

Note that for board charges, a 7-day equivalent was calculated as follows:

$$c_{i,k} = \begin{cases} 7/5 \text{ reported board, if days} = 5 \\ 7/6 \text{ reported board, if days} = 6 \\ \text{reported board, if days} = 7 \end{cases}$$

Table 3 shows the source of the full-time-equivalent (FTE) enrollment used in each computation. When enrollment data were used from the R&M form,* the FTE's were obtained by adding the total of all full-time students to one-third of the part-time students in the particular enrollment category. FTE's for the 1973-74 enrollment were obtained by adding total full-time enrollment and FTE's of part-time enrollment.

When the charge (tuition, room, or board) was zero or nonapplicable, the related enrollment data were not used in the computation of the weighted average charge.

To develop weights for in-State and out-of-State tuition for 1973-74, it was assumed that the 1973-74 pattern of in-State versus out-of-State enrollment for public institutions was similar to that reported on the fall 1972 R&M survey. For public institutions new to the universe in 1973-74 and therefore not reporting on the fall 1972 R&M survey, estimates of total enrollment (as reported by the institution in the fall 1973 OFE* survey, apportioned into in-State and out-of-State enrollment) were made with assistance from the institutions and the State coordinating agencies.

Enrollment data are used in two different ways. Full-time equivalents related to the type of student charge are used to weight the charge data at the institutional level, prior to summation, so that the weighted data describe what the average student paid for tuition, room, and board. Table 3 indicates the specific enrollment category used to weight each specific student charge category. In addition, enrollment size of institution is used to display the aggregate weighted average student charges data in tables 1, 2, and 101 for each year. Enrollment size represents the total enrollment of all students at the institution.

In these tabulations, institutions are classified by level into 3 groups: (1) Universities--institutions that stress graduate instruction and research, confer advanced degrees, and have at least two professional schools that are not exclusively technological; (2) other 4-year institutions--liberal arts colleges, teachers colleges, technical schools, and other professional schools; and (3) junior colleges and other institutions with programs of at least 2 but less than 4 years.

OLD AND NEW CLASSIFICATION METHODS

The trend toward multicampus institutions and entire systems of institutions, with the various units offering programs at the same or different levels, has made it increasingly necessary to identify the level of program for each unit separately, instead of following the traditional practice of a single identification for an entire conglomerate of units. This necessity has become even more pronounced due to the increasing demand for analysis of institutional operations and for interinstitutional comparisons drawn on the basis of homogeneous groups. Therefore, beginning with the year 1971-72, the National Center for Education Statistics began classifying the constituent units of all multicampus and multi-institutional entities separately, thus making it possible by the fall of 1972 to survey the separate entities individually.

One of the problems that always face those who deal with descriptive statistics is that any changes in classification or method of aggregation create difficulty in the maintenance of trend data. The usual course in such cases is to report data on both bases for a transitional interval so that analysts and other users may become familiar with the manner in which a change in classification changes the data. Therefore, basic tables 1 and 3, for each year, present basic student charges data for the "old method" of aggregating 4-year and 2-year branches of institutions with their parent institutions at the program levels of the parent institutions; while tables 101 and 103 present similar tabulations by the "new method" of aggregating 4-year and 2-year branches with other institutions at the same level. This latter series of table numbers (101 and 103) was selected for two reasons: (1) the "100" part of the series sets them apart from other tables in this report, and (2) the "01" and "03" part of the series indicates that these tables parallel tables 1 and 3 of the report and differ only as to method of aggregation by level of institution.

To allow for maximum comprehension of the differences between the traditional method of aggregation and the new method, institutional units whose classifications have changed in the new system of aggregation have been made easily identifiable. Six separately identifiable classifications of institutional units have replaced the former three. The three traditional classifications included universities (with all their branches), other 4-year institutions (with all their branches), and independent 2-year institutions. The six new classifications include the three original classifications of institutions plus three additional classifications for branches of institutions--other 4-year branches of universities, 2-year branches of universities, and 2-year branches of other 4-year institutions.

These six classifications are identified by numerical code, as follows:

1. University (including only those branches classified at the university level)
2. Other 4-year institution (including only those branches classified at the "other 4-year" level)
3. 2-year institution (including only their own branches)
4. 4-year branch of university
5. 2-year branch of university
6. 2-year branch of other 4-year institution

The first three codes include branches if they are at the same level as the parent institution. In the past, branches have always been aggregated with their parent institutions, but now the capability exists to aggregate them either with their parent institutions or with institutions and branches at the same level:

Traditional method	New method
university = 1 + 4 + 5	university = 1
other 4-year = 2 + 6	other 4-year = 2 + 4
2-year = 3	2-year = 3 + 5 + 6

The result of this dual tabulation is that when institutional data are aggregated the new way, as opposed to the traditional way, universities lose both 4-year branches and 2-year branches and gain nothing. Other 4-year institutions gain 4-year branches from the universities, but lose the 2-year branches attached to them under the traditional method. The 2-year institutions gain both the 2-year branches of universities and the 2-year branches of other 4-year institutions, and lose nothing. Thus, the data presented in this report are summarized by organizational grouping (the traditional method) and by the level of instruction being offered (the new method).

FREQUENCY DISTRIBUTION CHARTS

EXPLANATION OF THE CHARTS

These computerized charts distribute numbers of institutions (No. considered) on the vertical (frequency) scale according to the amount of charge shown in percentiles on the lateral (interval) scale. The charge may be calculated as (for example, in the annotated sample below):

Percentile point	X	Interval value	=	Product	+	Bottom range	=	Percentile charge
25		$11.75		$293.75		$225		$518.75
								-11.75
								$507.00

The 25th percentile consists of 10 institutions charging between $507 and $518.

NOTES: - If the frequency value (for numbers of institutions) is more than 2.00 and only one institution constitutes a percentile point, none is shown.

The values reflect unweighted data; therefore the charts are not comparable with the summary tables, with weighted statistics.

INSTRUCTIONS

1. It is recognized that tuition and required fees and room and board charges are not the same for all students at an institution. Therefore, in selecting the single figure that will be most appropriately representative of your institution and comparable to other institutions, please be guided by the following:

a. Include all fixed sum charges which are REQUIRED of such a large proportion of all students that the student who does not pay the charge is an exception. If the amount varies depending upon the class level of the student, subject matter major, the courses taken, etc., estimate the typical or modal amount for charges which are required.

b. Do not include any charges which are clearly optional.

2. Report charges for the academic year. The academic year is the period of the regular session, generally extending from September to June, usually divided into 2 semesters, 3 quarters, or 2 trimesters.

3. If the institution has a single lump-sum charge for tuition, required fees, room, and board, please apportion the lump-sum charges among the appropriate categories.

TUITION AND REQUIRED FEES

ITEM A. Undergraduate students are those who have not obtained a bachelor's degree: (1) all students in bachelor's degree programs which require at least 4 years but fewer than 6 years of college work; and (2) all students in occupational or general study programs which require 1, 2, or 3 years of college work and which are designated to prepare for immediate employment, or to provide general education rather than as the first 1, 2, or 3 years of a bachelor's degree program.

ITEM B. Graduate students are those who have attained at least one standard bachelor's degree or first-professional degree and are or could be candidates for master's or doctor's degrees. They do NOT include candidates for the degrees of DSC, Pod.D, DDS, DMD, MD, OD, DO, DVM, LLB, JD, BD, or other first-professional degrees.

ROOM AND BOARD CHARGES

ITEM C. Report as room charge (academic year) the modal charge to a typical student sharing a room with one other student.

ITEM D. Report as the board charge (academic year) the modal charge to a typical student. Please check the number of days per week for which the board charges are applicable (5, 6, or 7).

If your institution makes a combined charge for room and board, please make an estimate of the proportions of the total charge in each of the categories.
